

Diagnostic Interview for Social & Communication Disorders (DISCO)

A Course for Staff working in the NHS in Scotland

Presented in collaboration with
The Centre for Social and Communication Disorders at Elliot House

Venue and Details

Premier Inn, George Street, Glasgow.

Four Day Course, in Two Parts

PART I: 26th, 27th April 2017

PART II: 27th, 28th June 2017

TRAINERS

Anne Marie Gallagher

Speech & Language Therapist/Clinical Lead

June Ward

Clinical Autism Specialist

COST

£1300

The Scottish Government will fund 50% of the cost of this course if it contributes to meeting the priority outcomes of the Scottish Strategy.

Who is eligible to attend?

- Only clinical staff working in Scotland will be accepted
- Participants must have experience of working with autistic children or adults and have a direct role in diagnosis.
- Priority will be given to services developing their capacity to respond to diagnostic assessments.
- The course is ideally suited to medical staff, clinical psychologists, speech & language therapists and experienced nursing staff. Please contact to discuss suitability if you belong to a different professional group.
- Attendance on all four days plus satisfactory completion of pre and post assignments are mandatory to become an accredited DISCO user.

For further information please contact:

Anne Marie Gallagher
24 Calico Way,
Lennoxtown,
Glasgow,
G66 7GB

Telephone: 01360 311030

Email: connecttoautism@gmail.com